THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

June 21, 1978

To Senator James Eastland

I am pleased to send you this status report on the national urban policy. It covers changes and improvements made before my March 27 Message, as well as progress on legislation and other measures made since that time.

Revitalizing America's communities requires great care in making the most effective use of limited budgetary resources. Success will require the joint efforts of all levels of government, the private sector, labor and neighborhood and voluntary organizations. This is the New Partnership upon which the urban policy is based.

I look forward to working closely with you as we continue our progress toward revitalizing America's communities and meeting the needs of our distressed areas.

Sincerely,
